Data Governance and Statistics Department

December 2022

Revisions in securities statistics are made according to the following rules:

1. Routine Revisions:

There is no routine revision available.

2. Non-Routine Revisions:

- Revisions can be made in cases where data regarding the early redemption or repurchase of debt securities issued abroad by sectors other than the general government are reflected in data sources with a lag.

- Data for the previous periods can be revised in line with the revisions of the source data.

- Methodological changes and employment of new statistical sources are among the reasons for non-routine revisions. All the important unplanned revisions are announced on the CBRT website at least three days prior to the publication of the revised statistics. The announcement includes the scope of and the reasons for the revision.
