

International Reserves and Foreign Currency Liquidity Table Revision Policy

---

Data are considered to be final when first released and not routinely revised unless the source data changes. However, the cumulative year-end data are finalized after the final version of the balance sheet of the Central Bank of Turkey is approved at the Shareholders' meeting.

In addition, previous years' data are also subject to revision whenever a large-scale revision is needed in any data that compose the international reserves and foreign currency liquidity table by informing the public at large.