Press Release on Technical Briefings in London

April 5, 2026 No: 2026-16

The Central Bank of the Republic of Türkiye (CBRT) conducts its communication policy based on the principles of transparency, consistency, and real-time disclosure. Accordingly, the CBRT regularly hosts comprehensive briefings with both domestic and international market participants.

Recent public allegations claiming that “previously undisclosed information and assessments were shared with investors” during the technical briefings in London are completely unfounded.

These briefings address technical questions on the broader macroeconomic outlook, financial markets, and the banking sector, aimed at fostering a clear understanding of monetary policy implementation. All content shared within this context is strictly limited to publicly available monetary policy texts and published macroeconomic data.

The CBRT does not, under any circumstances, disclose non-public information or policy assessments to any external parties, whether domestically or internationally.

Please disregard any comments, impressions, or statements that do not originate from the CBRT’s official communication channels.
